EST.1919™

Shah Nanji Nagasi is a 100 year old, ISO 22000 certified agro-commodity processor generating a revenue of over USD 50 million.

History

Shah Nanji Nagasi was established in 1919 as a wholesale grain trading house by our founding father Nagasi Hirji Shah.

Over the next few decades, the firm transformed from a local grain trading company to a nationwide grain commission agent. Soon we started receiving cargo from farmers, processors and traders from all over the country, and we sold the cargo on their behalf.

Our transparent ways of working helped us gain the trust of our suppliers and customers, leading to steady and significant growth of the firm.

Then, the Indian economy opened up in 1991, allowing us to expand our network beyond India. By following the same principles of transparency, we soon became one of the biggest rice exporters in India.

Today, we are one of India's largest grain processors and traders

We are fortunate to have some of the world's biggest companies like Louis Dreyfus Company (LDC) amongst our valuable customers.
